The terminal disclaimer has been recorded.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 30-130 are allowed.

Art Unit: 3623

5. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

The following references have been identified by the Examiner as the closest prior art of record:

(1) MyPoints™ Program, as disclosed in the following references:

(a) Information about the MyPoints™ Program retrieved on July 26, 2002 from Internet

<URL:<http://web.archive.org/web/19980128231040/http://www.mypoints.com>>, herein referred to as MyPoints™ Program web site. This web site was archived by web.archive.org on January 28, 1998.

(b) Oberndorf, "Points for Loyalty," published December 1997.

(c) Riedman, "MyPoints Aims to Be Universal Web Currency," published August 18, 1997.

(2) Biorge et al. (U.S. Patent No. 5,806,045).

(3) Schlumberger Payflex card, as disclosed in the following references:

(a) "World's First Smart Card Frequent Flyer Scheme Debuts," published September 19, 1997.

(b) "Major Airlines Continue Their Smart Card Fly-bys," published January 1998.

(c) "Schlumberger: AOM's Smart Card Frequent Flyer Program Successfully Launched," published May 22, 1998.

(4) Walker et al. (U.S. Patent No. 6,128,599).

The MyPoints™ Program served as the principal art in the previously pending art rejection of record. Similar to the claimed invention, the MyPoints™ Program is a reward points accumulation and redemption program. Also, the MyPoints™ Program allows a user to gather points from different reward points issuing entities. All gathered points are accumulated in a universal account from which points may be redeemed through a trading server. However, unlike the claimed invention, MyPoints™'s users do not have control over which reward points are accumulated in the universal account; all MyPoints™'s reward points are accumulated in the universal account regardless of which reward points issuing entity issued the reward points. Neither the MyPoints™ Program nor any of the other aforementioned references teaches or suggests the novel aspects of the claimed invention which allow a user to maintain at least one separate reward points account and then selectively choose how many points and from which reward points account(s) to assign a separate reward points accumulation thereof. These novel aspects are recited in claims 30-130; therefore, claims 30-130 are all deemed to be allowable over the prior art of record.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
